

AngloGold Ashanti recognises the safety team at Geita Gold Mine for their remarkable contribution in facilitating and supporting safety programmes.

Deane Macpherson (centre), Health and Safety Manager for the Tanzania and Ghana business units, speaks to the Geita Gold Mine safety team.

As Geita Gold Mining Limited, AngloGold Ashanti's Tanzanian operation, has won the AngloGold Ashanti Global Safety Awards for four consecutive years, the management of GGML has decided to recognise all employees who have contributed to this achievement.

During a visit to the GGML site in Mchauru village, AGA's Safety and Health Manager for Ghana and Tanzania, Deane Macpherson, was delighted to present the award on behalf of the GGM Managing Director to the Geita team for their dedication and commitment to leading safety standards at Geita.

Commenting on the achievement, Deane Macpherson said, "(AGA) management is confident that you will continue to show the same level of commitment and enthusiasm in maintaining and improving safety performance within and beyond the Geita Gold Mine. We are very proud of Geita's performance. Winning the Global Safety Award for four consecutive years is no mean feat. It is remarkable and encourages us all to embrace the spirit of making safety our number one value."

GGM's Senior Manager for Health, Safety, Environment and Training, Dr Kiva Mvungi, attributed the achievement to behaviour change campaigns supported by the safety department.

"We are going to maintain this momentum and as a team. We will not drop the ball. It has always been our dream to continue to be the leading site within AngloGold Ashanti and to win safety awards as well," he said.

AGA's Health and Safety Manager for the Ghana and Tanzania operations, Deane Macpherson (right), presents the award to Geita Gold Mine's Safety Manager, Isack Senya.

Safety Officer 2 Joachim Dominic (left) receives his certificate from AGA's Health and Safety Manager for the Ghana and Tanzania Business Unit, Deane Macpherson (centre). GGM's Senior Manager for HSE and T Dr Kiva Mvungi looks on.

