TPDF Delegation Explores GGML's Role in National Development

How does mining contribute to economic development and national security? This question was at the heart of a successful and insightful study visit to GGML by a delegation from the Tanzania Peoples' Defence Forces (TPDF) Command and Staff College.

Held under the theme "Economic Development for National Security," the visit brought learning into a practical mining environment, giving participants valuable exposure to our operations and a deeper understanding of the sector's role in Tanzania's development.

Through knowledge sharing and engagement with our teams, the delegation explored GGML's responsible mining operations, regulatory compliance and the eventual connection between mining, economic growth and national security. The visit provided an opportunity to learn about GGML's contribution to the economy, while considering how productive industries support the country's broader development priorities.

For GGML, the engagement was an opportunity to share our experience and strengthen understanding of our business. It also demonstrated the value of opening our doors to learning, dialogue and institutional cooperation.

The delegation expressed appreciation for the warm welcome, the knowledge shared and the opportunity to experience our mining operations firsthand. Their positive feedback reflected the collective effort of colleagues who helped make the visit both informative and memorable.

Thank you to everyone involved. Your professionalism, teamwork and hospitality brought this learning experience to life and left a positive impression of GGML and its people..
